

Python for AI and RAG Systems

Python is one of the most important languages for artificial intelligence development. Libraries such as LangChain, Transformers, and ChromaDB are commonly used in RAG pipelines. RAG stands for Retrieval-Augmented Generation. Python helps developers build semantic search systems and LLM-powered applications.